Hi Chuck,

Tomorrow's the big moving day for my family and I. We've moved four times in the past nine years. My family isn't so happy about moving again, but we don't have a choice. My job as a troubleshooter means I must go where there is a problem, solve the problem, and then move on to the next problem.

The moving company delivered the packing boxes this morning. After we carefully pack our things in the boxes, we have to attach a label to the top of each box. Each label says what's in the box and where the box should be placed at the new house, such as the kitchen or living room.
